

Farmland Security Zone

Landowners may request that their land be enrolled in a FARMLAND SECURITY ZONE (FSZ) contract under the provisions of the California Land Conservation Act of 1965 and Senate Bill 1182 (1998). Information on the program and assistance is available from members of the Agricultural Preserve Advisory Committee and P&D staff. Requirements and restrictions are described in Uniform Rule No.13 and in the Contract.

Welcome to the Farmland Security Zone Program

Senate Bill 1182, defining and allowing for the creation of farmland security zones, was passed by the California State Legislature in 1998. The intent of the legislation is to offer landowners with Williamson Act contracts enhanced tax incentives (35% reduction of their Williamson Act rate and exemption from most special assessments) in exchange for a longer and more restrictive preserve contract. Contract terms are for an initial 20-year period (as opposed to ten years for a standard Williamson Act contract). As with standard Williamson Act agreements, the contracts automatically renew each year unless the landowner or the County requests a notice of non-renewal. The program is strictly voluntary.

Farmland Security Zones are similar to the Agricultural Preserves that are created when landowners enter into a Williamson Act contract with the County. Property within agricultural preserves is taxed at a lower rate in return for a promise not to develop the land for ten years. Farmland Security Zones are different in the following ways:

- The contract term for a farmland security zone is twenty years, twice as long as the standard Williamson Act contract term of ten years.
- Property within a farmland security zone is taxed at 65% of its agricultural value or 35% less than the tax rate of a standard Williamson Act contract.
- Cancellation is not allowed. Non-renewal is the only way to terminate a farmland security zone contract. Once the contract is non-renewed, it takes twenty years to expire.
- For more details, please see the County's Uniform Rules for Agricultural Preserves #13.

Generally, land qualifies for a farmland security zone if both of the following are true:

1. The land is already enrolled in a Williamson Act contract OR is eligible for enrollment, and
2. The land is designated on the State's Important Farmland Maps as more than 50% prime farmland, unique farmland, or farmland of statewide or local importance. Planning and Development can determine this with you by referring to the state maps, which are kept at the zoning counter. If your land has changed to one of the above uses very recently (after the current states maps were produced), Planning and Development staff can confirm the change and process your application accordingly.
